

POLICEMAN IS SHOT WHEN HE REFUSES TO FREE PRISONER

Only Witness to Murder of Newark Patrolman Can't Describe Men.

Patrolman John J. McGovern of Newark, N. J., was shot and killed by one of two men last night when he was taking a prisoner to a police station.

The prisoner, the murderer and his companion, escaped.

McGovern, thirty-five years old, was married to the Second Precinct, and lived at No. 185 South Orange avenue. He had to go into the Italian colony last night to make an arrest. This he accomplished with difficulty and started for the station.

Two men followed the policeman and a prisoner. When they got opposite No. 185 South Orange street, John McConnell, living in his window there, saw what took place. He says that the two men following stepped up to the policeman and argued with him, their gestures indicating to McConnell that they demanded the release of the man under arrest.

A moment afterward there was a scuffle in which the prisoner took part, and after that came four revolver shots. McGovern fell to the sidewalk and the three men fled.

The reports brought several persons, and an ambulance was summoned from the City Hospital. The wounded policeman was lifted into it, but he died on the way to the hospital.

Detectives hurried to the place of the shooting, but McConnell was the only witness of the deed who was found. Even though a powerful street lamp shined across the way, McConnell was unable to supply good descriptions of the three men.

When McGovern's body was taken into the hospital morgue it was found that a revolver was missing. This makes it probable that he drew it to scare his assailants and that it was wrested from him and used to kill him. He was shot in the heart and in the abdomen. McGovern was married and had a wife in the force about ten years.

A revolver, which may be the one with which McGovern was shot, was found by a citizen today in a lot across the street from the place where the shooting took place. Three arrests have been made, but each of the men denies the ownership of the weapon.

An interesting feature of the affair is that the police have been unable to learn who it was McGovern arrested and what charge the policeman intended to make.

WEDDING DAY IS SPENT IN JAIL ON GIRL'S CHARGE

For Money and Fiance Vanished From Brooklyn at the Same Time.

Word reached the Liberty avenue station today that Nicholas Granitz, of No. 314 Watkins street, Brooklyn, had been arrested in Kingston, N. Y., on a charge of grand larceny preferred by his fiancée, Miss Olga Okolowicz of the same Brooklyn address. They were to have been married yesterday afternoon at the Polish Russian Church, Brooklyn. The ceremony was to have been followed by a banquet at Washington Hall.

In response to invitations a crowd of friends of the couple had assembled at the church for the wedding. With the prospective bridegroom a prisoner and a fiancée at home crying, it devolved on Capt. Joseph Thompson, head of the East New York detectives, to go to the church and explain the circumstances. Capt. Thompson also sent Detective William Drum to Washington with a warrant issued by Magistrate Hylan Saturday at the instance of Miss Okolowicz. Drum will bring the prisoner to New York to-morrow.

According to the story told the police by Okolowicz and Granitz have been married with Sammie Novick at the Watkins street address for some time. They fell in love, Granitz proposed and was accepted. Cards were then sent out for the wedding.

Granitz disappeared on Friday. The news and money of his fiancée also vanished. She told the police she missed him and had been looking for him. She had kept in a stocking in her bureau drawer, two rings Granitz had given her and a watch and chain worth $5. For a long time she was hysterical and failed to report the matter.

Novick, the landlady, remembered hearing Granitz say he came from Kingston and had $500 banked there. So she took the first train for the up-State train. There he found Granitz and had him detained. The police confirmed that the New York authorities and Detective Drum started out with his warrant.

They married in Reno, Nev., in 1909, and after their separation Eddy has changed his residence to New York City, then to West, and personal service will be served before any attempt is made to sue the case set for trial. There will be no opposition from the husband, it is understood.

Evening World's Original fashions for Home Dressmakers.

CHILDREN'S FASHIONS

All questions concerning designs and alterations of dresses should be addressed to the Fashion Editor of The Evening World. No patterns for designs in this column can be obtained, but with the description furnished it is a simple matter to work out patterns.

A new and distinctive feature of this department is the illustration of the different pieces of the pattern necessary for the making of the garment. It shows how easily the attractive design can be executed, and also serves as a guide in cutting one's own pattern if such is needed.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Dear Fashion Editor: I would appreciate your advice concerning a school dress for my daughter who is fourteen years old, rather slight, gray eyes and pale complexion. Am anxious for a practical style, not too plain, for very simple clothes do not become her.

MRS. W. M. Make a brown serge dress with a band of brown satin down the front from neck nearly to the knees. On the waist let wide revers extend from under the band, finished around with brown silk braid, while at the neck a flat collar of brown satin conceals starting point of the revers. Trim the skirt with satins on each side of the band and define the hem by a row of braid.

Dear Fashion Editor: I have some golfing material which is tan on one side and tan and blue plaid on the other. Some of the pieces are only eighteen inches wide, and I think I could manage it for a coat, but it would have to be seamed. Can you suggest a natty style for it? Many thanks.

ELMIRA J. K. You should be able to make out a short coat having a yoke across the shoulders and chest, from under which let pass to the bottom, straps of the material which would hide the seams. Use belt of the goods to pass under the straps and fasten in front. Wide cuffs and collar would finish the coat.

Dear Fashion Editor: I seek a suggestion from you as to how to make an evening frock from the inclosed material. It is twenty-seven inches wide. Could I trim it with some crystal banding like inclosed? I have three yards of same. I am a brunette nineteen years old.

"APPRECIATIVE." Use the crystal for straps over the shoulders to meet a three inch band of lace which trims the blouse of the blouse waist. Sleeve cuffs of the lace will come in line with the blouse trimming. Use the crystal on the skirt, starting from each side front, and dropping knee depth in back, outlining a princess fulness. A belt of primary velvet could drop two weighted ends in the front.

Dear Fashion Editor: In remodeling a black henrietta gown dress for my mother, she is anxious I shall use black silk fringe on it. If you think it would be appropriate, will you suggest a way to use it and if not will you suggest another trimming? Many thanks.

MRS. D. R. The silk fringe could be used to finish a short panel of black satin on the front of the skirt, also one the same length on the back, the latter one being gathered into the belt. The waist could have a square collar of black satin starting from the back, braided in a design, and finished across the front and back with the fringe.

Dear Fashion Editor: I would like to use an Irish lace cuff and collar set on a dark red serge dress I intend making. Will you suggest a style for me which is simple?

MARIE. Make a wide plait over each shoulder and trim with black satin buttons and eyelets. Trim a wide front gore down the skirt in the same way. Make long sleeves, with the lace cuffs used down ways, with the lace cuffs used down ways, with the lace cuffs used down ways.

BARRY DEFEATS DURMAN FOR SCULLING TITLE.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Ernest Barry, the world's champion sculler, easily defeated Edward Hanlon Durman of Toronto in a race for the sculling championship of the world over the Putney to Mortlake course on the Thames to-day. Barry won by three lengths. His time was 22 minutes 31 seconds.

WASHINGTON WOMEN DRAW LINE AT SKIRTS SLIT TO SHOW KNEE.

Shudder With Horror at Thought of Wearing Them, Especially in a Crowded Street Car.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Society women at the national capital say they will absolutely refuse to countenance the new belt skirt, the tight-fitting creation whose pair of slits reveals the naked knees of the wearer.

"It is immodest, besides being vulgar," declared Mrs. William H. Delaney, wife of Judge Delaney. "Can you not see a woman in one of those skirts sitting down in a street car? Her knees would be sure to come through the slits. Even if they did not further rip the dress, they would be exposed to the view of every man in the car. Besides, it would give her a cold."

Other Washington leaders were equally disapproving. They said they cared not two straws what Lady Duff-Gordon thought, and less about the example set by smart Mrs. Dickie McCreery in London.
